

ARMY REACHES FULL STRENGTH OF 7,700,000

Large German Force Trapped in Odessa Area

Russians Closing In on Great Port

By TOM YARBROUGH

LONDON, Friday, April 7 (AP)—The last Ukrainian Red army opened straggling nooses around large German forces encircled at Tarnopol and near Skala yesterday and closed in for the kill while the Third Ukrainian army splashed through the mud toward Odessa in an operation designed to trap still another trap around the Black sea port.

The Russians announced they were closing on Odessa from the northeast, north and northwest, with the most notable gain the capture of Karpovo, railway station thirty-three miles northwest of the city. The victory was credited to a flank blow at Nazis, who were counter-attacking in a vain effort to retake Razdelnaya, vital junction thirty-eight miles northwest of Odessa.

Razdelnaya fell only Wednesday. The Russians advanced fifteen miles in yesterday's combat along a line that once was the Germans' main hope of escape but now is a direct pathway towards Odessa.

100 Towns Captured

On the north the Russians thrust thirteen miles down the rain-swollen Kuyalnik river to the head of the salty Kuyalnik lagoon that was a peacetime center for health-seekers. Captured towns among them more than 100 that fell on the Odessa front included Maryanovka, twenty-one miles north of Odessa, and Sverdlovo, fourteen miles northeast.

In the twin cauldrons of Tarnopol and Skala on the northwest flank front, the Russians told of gains reminiscent of Korsun and Zaluzhna: Germans madly dying in vain attempts to break out, and Russian forces struggling to break in.

Repulse Nazi Attacks

At Tarnopol itself the Russians announced they beat off attacks by large German infantry and tank forces that tried vainly to break in from the outside to release their encircled comrades. The only result was a tightening of the loop and heavy losses to the Germans. Street fighting already has been in progress in Tarnopol for days.

Silent About Rumania

For the third successive night Moscow was silent regarding the Rumania front, where the Germans claim to have brought up reinforcements.

German and Rumanian reports stressed the theme that the Russian campaign in Rumania had been stalled, but Moscow's silence did not necessarily bear them out, and repeated British and American air raids on key Balkan targets were being the way for the Russians to push further into Rumania.

Praises U. S. Forces

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D-Miss.), in an army day address, tonight described the American forces as "the best trained, the best equipped, the best led, the best and the most intelligent army in the world."

National Military Training Plan

Advocated by Gen. Lewis Hershey

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, said tonight the army and navy should be demobilized slowly after the war in order that the United States' voice at the peace table will be "backed by military strength."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the National War Veterans Conference of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), he called for a "deliberate demobilization" not only to hold down domestic unemployment but also for international reasons.

Adherence to this principle, said Hershey, will mean that "we evolve a permanent system for our armed forces that will provide at all times

Dewey-Warren Ticket: Easterner for President, Westerner For Running Mate, Get Wide Support

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey showed the first tangible gain today from the withdrawal of Wendell L. Willkie from GOP presidential nomination contest as talk in political circles increased of a Republican ticket composed of the New Yorker and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

The 42-year-old former racketeer prosecutor picked up a New York delegate who has been counted in Willkie's claimed column, thus raising his claim support to eighty-three out of New York's eighty-five unpledged district delegates and his total to a minimum of 133 out of the 276 GOP delegates so far shown. A total of 530 is necessary for a nomination.

Marvin for Dewey

The New Yorker who went over to Dewey's side was Roland B. Marvin, Onondaga (Syracuse) Republican county chairman, who said that in view of the vote in Wisconsin, giving Dewey a possible eighteen out of the twenty-four delegates and Willkie none, he would "unreservedly" support Dewey. Two other New York delegates remained uncommitted.

Meanwhile those who predict a

Dewey-Warren ticket were arguing this way: In view of the fact that the Republicans have demonstrated much strength in the Midwest and the South is traditionally Democratic, the crucial election battlegrounds this year will be the East and the West. Warren comes from the West's most populous state, just as Dewey represents the biggest in the East.

Held Help to Ticket

Moreover, it is argued, the addition of Warren to the ticket might be calculated to attract many voters who supported Willkie because of his international views. Warren had advocated an international police force to prevent future aggression.

He said in an interview at the 1943 governors' conference: "We have got to have a police force to maintain peace and the United States must be a part of it for our own security and safety of the world."

It was recalled also that Dewey's

1942 gubernatorial platform urged force, if necessary, to preserve peace.

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) said there has been a lot of talk among California Republicans of Gov. Warren's prospects on a ticket with Gov. Dewey, but that they considered Warren also as presidential timber.

Plans To Reply To His Critics

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull will make a full-dress speech on American foreign policy Sunday night, coupling a new reply to his critics with a discussion of current international political questions.

Designed to show how United States foreign policy operates,

the speech will stand as Hull's answer to those who say that American diplomatic maneuvers, particularly in Europe, often are covered more by expediency than principle.

In this respect the secretary is believed to consider the speech a logical follow-up to his publication March 21 of seventeen major points of foreign policy, culled from previously made speeches. That statement was issued in response to the criticism that he has no foreign policy.

Hull and his advisers have been working on the address for a week or more. It will be his first speech on general foreign policy since last September when he discussed American foreign affairs in relation to national interest.

Since then he has attended the meeting of foreign ministers in Moscow where he obtained agreement by Britain, Russia and China to the principle of postwar collaboration. He reported on his accomplishments there in an address to Congress Nov. 18.

Hull's Sunday night speech will begin at 6:30 o'clock, EWT, and probably will last about forty minutes. It will be broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Behind his decision to make the address lies the secretary's conviction, recently expressed to friends and callers at his office, that the country is now entering one of the most critical periods in history insofar as its foreign relations are concerned.

Praises U. S. Forces

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D-Miss.), in an army day address, tonight described the American forces as "the best trained, the best equipped, the best led, the best and the most intelligent army in the world."

Asked if he would consent to run

for vice president if "drafted" at the convention, Warren said:

"I do not care to comment on that. There is nobody representing me and there is nobody I am close to doing anything for me in that respect."

Warren stated, as he had previously,

that he will not, as he did in 1936 when he also headed the California delegation, release the delegation in advance of the convention.

"There has been no arrangement this year," he said, "to release the delegation either in advance of or after the first ballot."

"This matter has not been thought through," he explained. "I would suppose that I would have the right to ask the delegation to cast a ballot for me, if I so desired. I have not consulted with the delegation since it has not yet been elected."

Accidents Mark Raid on Cassino

By LYNN HEINZELING

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, April 6 (AP)—Allied bombers accidentally killed Allied troops and failed to blast the Nazis out of Cassino in their great assault March 15, Lt. Gen. Ira S. Eaker conceded today, but the Texas-born commander of Allied Mediterranean air forces sharply insisted the operation "accomplished all that was expected of it by the air force commanders."

At unstated number of Allied troops were killed at Venafro, twelve miles east of Cassino, when Allied bombardiers mistook that town for the target, Eaker said, and other bombs fell wide of their mark near Cassino when they accidentally became dislodged from their racks. He did not say whether the latter caused any deaths among Allied troops.

Not "A Black Eye"

Indicating his belief that the outcome at Cassino should not be constructed as a black eye for aerial bombardment, Eaker said it was not to be expected that such an attack could wipe out all resistance.

"Over a long and sustained period a greater degree of devastation could have been caused in Cassino," he said, "but it probably would have had little bearing on the final result. The enemy forces in their cellars, deep dugouts and underground passages would not have been affected."

Earlier Lessons Confirmed

The Cassino result, he asserted, only confirmed earlier lessons that heavy four-engine bombers would be better employed in attacking long-range strategic targets, such as the present campaign against the Balkans, than in close tactical support of ground forces, except in certain emergencies "such as at Salerno."

The air force commander, who discussed various aspects of the Cassino operation freely at a press conference, emphasized that his remarks should not be construed as a criticism of the ground forces or their commanders.

He pointed out, however, that there are some types of operations for which the air forces are not designed and to which they cannot be adapted.

"Under those conditions I want them to do whatever they can in support of the general battle, or to save the situation even though they may not be highly efficient in carrying out the task," Eaker said.

Sergeant Pays Taxes In Japanese Money

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP)—A marine sergeant stationed "somewhere in the Southwest Pacific" sent Cook county Assessor John S. Clark a Japanese fifty sen note today as initial payment on his 1942 personal tax.

Staff Sgt. Gerald A. Waindel

wrote he had taken the money from a Jap "who failed to observe" the marine bayonet, and that if the payment were insufficient he would get some more money from the same place.

Clark commented, "I hope he kills

another Jap tomorrow, whether he's got money or not. I'm also going to see that the assessment is cancelled."

Fire Sweeps Town

STRASBURG, Va., April 6 (AP)—A large part of the business section of Wardsville, Va., a small town just across the Virginia line from Strasburg, was destroyed by fire which started in a restaurant on main street this afternoon.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, FRIDAY,

April 7 (AP)—More than 250 Allied planes striking continuously for fifty minutes Wednesday, tore up the town and harbor of Hollandia with 326 tons of explosives and 250,000 pounds of ammunition — and that New Guinea air base of the Japanese was helpless to resist.

No enemy plane was encountered in the midday attack. Not one of the big force of Liberators, Mitchells, Bostons and escorting fighters was lost.

There was moderate anti-aircraft

fire at first but it dwindled quickly, leaving a burning fuel and supply dump sent up huge flames and towering clouds of smoke. A ship in the harbor was set afire. Returning fliers also told of the destruction of supply luggers and barges along the coastline.

On the day of the raid more than 100 Thunderbolts and Lightnings strafed islands and small shipping southwest of Aitape and Wewak.

Hollandia raiding pilots said the fires the bombardiers started could be seen for twenty miles. The next day the crew of a reconnaissance plane over the area saw some fires still burning and noted a heavy explosion, probably from an ammunition dump.

Kirke L. Simpson Says: American Heavy Bombers Bridging Between Allied Forces in Balkans

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Hundreds of miles of hard going for both Allied and Russian ground troops still separate United Nations armies gnawing at the shak-en Nazi Balkan flank; but American heavy bombers from Italy are bridging the gap effectively.

For a week or more in direct aid of Russian Allies they have struck crippling long range blows at German communication centers in Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria. The big ships were almost in distant high altitude sight of Red armies hammering toward the vital Galati-Carpathian gateway to the valley of the Danube when they loosed their bomb barrage over Ploesti.

Blast Oil Centers

They were punching viciously, also, at a vulnerable link in Nazi defensive armor in Southeastern Europe. Ploesti's rail yards and highway intersections are as important to Nazi communications serving the Red army-punctured German front on a 200 mile span from the upper central Prut to the Black sea as its oil installations are to Nazi war economy as a whole. Every bomb dropped on that Rumanian rail, road and pipe line hub effectively must yield double military values.

At this stage of the battle on the southern flank of the eastern front air disruption of Ploesti rail connections could be even more immediately effective in bringing about a complete Nazi disaster in the Balkans than incidental interruption of its oil traffic. The great Rumanian oil center is a prime hub on the main German communication artery supporting the wavering Black sea wing of the line. Through it pass the main rail and road connections between Budapest and Bucharest.

Only via Ploesti and Buzau junction to the east is quick communication available to the Nazis to shut-tle supplies and reinforcements to meet the converging Russian Second

Willkie a Cropper Before Wisconsin

WENDELL WILLKIE virtually defeated himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency a long way back when he advocated his globalistic views as to the part this nation should play in ordering world affairs, which views were so inordinate and exaggerated as to associate them in the public mind with the extravagant and visionary Roosevelt-Wallace ideals. His globe-encircling investigation for Mr. Roosevelt failed to dissociate his connection with the Roosevelt scheme of an American benevolence which extended so fantastically beyond realism.

There were other factors spelling his certain defeat as a candidate. Prominent among these was his misguided effort to place man above party, which was even stressed in his statement of withdrawal by the expression of hope that the Republican convention would name a candidate and write a platform embodying, not the best thought of the party, but "the views which I have represented." That attitude was further emphasized by his refusal to say whether he would support the nominee of the convention although he had declared that it would be "stupid" to expect that the convention would name a candidate or adopt a platform that would not command support.

Another thing that helped to put the finishing touches on his candidacy was Mr. Willkie's extravagant and unrealistic taxing views. In the face of a taxing program obviously oppressive and unfair, he went so far as to advocate a still further burden twice as heavy as the added tax burden demanded by Mr. Roosevelt, which was turned down by Congress. He then added to the confusion of thought this entailed by failing to note where the increased taxes were to come from.

The ineptitude of that was demonstrated when Congress discussed the new taxing measure, and it is further impressed by the report given elsewhere on this page by David Lawrence, who notes that, by reason of increased revenues and lowered war costs, which the Congress had anticipated, the treasury is better off now by $19,600,000,000, or $3,600,000,000 more than the sixteen billions urged by Roosevelt in his 1943 budget message and nine billions more than the treasury proposal of $10,600,000,000, which he endorsed.

The Wisconsin primary provided the final concrete evidence that Mr. Willkie as a candidate was washed up. He made his greatest fight there but he failed to show that he was a far better vote-getter than he had been rated by his opponents and was decisively beaten. Even the probability that many Democrats and New Dealers voted for him in Wisconsin, where the primary law permitted them to vote for Republican delegates, did not serve him. He really had all the breaks there and his stumping was probably as energetic as any ever attempted. But the unmistakable verdict was that his program was too uncertain and unsatisfactory. He exhibited more good sense by withdrawing as a candidate in consequence of this verdict than he had displayed in his platform views.

Regardless of whether one is a New Dealer or in favor of a return to traditional American ways, the elimination of Willkie from the political scene should be hailed as a welcome development. It is a development that clears the air and revivifies the two-party system.

Willkie, of course, never had even the slightest chance of again stampeding a Republican convention into nominating him, a Wilsonian and an ex-Democrat, as the G. O. P. standard-bearer. But there were some influences outside of the Republican party, led journalistically by the New York Times and on the radio by an assortment of New Deal commentators, that seemed to think—despite evidence to the contrary supplied by the 1942 elections—that the Republican party was moribund and was a pushover for a bunch of ex-New Dealers with grandiose ambitions.

With Willkie the Republican candidate this year, which never was in the cards, the election would have been a waste of time and money, because the voters would have had no choice of issues or principles. Willkie, in his bumbling manner, seems to have been trying to say—if he has been trying to say anything—that the New Deal is all right, but the wrong people are running it. As a campaign issue, that stance never has been so hot.

The withdrawal further enhances the availability of Governor Dewey, of New York, who, although not a candidate, continues to grow by leaps and bounds in popular favor, particularly in Republican ranks.

It would be no great surprise if Dewey were named by acclamation on the first vote in the Republican convention thus demonstrating another extraordinary case of the very few on record of the office seeking the man.

The Good Friday Prayer for All

THE DEATH of the innocent Christ on the hill of Calvary nearly 2,000 years ago has a deeper meaning for many persons this year. The people of the world, the innocent and the guilty, find themselves undergoing a type of crucifixion themselves and out of their sufferings, whether physical or mental, emerges a greater appreciation of the sufferings endured on the Cross.

It happens that in this very week, when the events of Calvary are memorialized in the services of the church, the war which has engulfed most of the peoples of the world appears to be entering a stage of greater intensity with still more suffering and pain in store for the participants. And many of those who are in the thick of the battle and are undergoing the most excruciating pain are individuals who have lived lives of blamelessness in comparison with others who are far removed from the scene of battle but have helped to bring the world to its present pass.

Those who are guiltless have in Christ the example of One who was wholly innocent but gave His life, amid the sharpest suffering, out of love and mercy for the human race; those who, through worship of the false gods of materialism and selfishness, have brought the world to the edge of the abyss may look with hope to the Crucifixion scene where the dying Christ promised Paradise to the repentant who was expiring at His side.

It should be the prayer of everyone on this day that the sufferings imposed by the war shall not have been in vain, but that they will bear fruit in the creation of a postwar world in which right and justice shall prevail and there shall be respect for the rights of man and his God-given personality.

Voters Should Accept This Roosevelt Advice

IN A SPEECH delivered in St. Paul, Minn., on April 18, 1932, Franklin D. Roosevelt said:

"There will be many in this nation during the coming months who will implore you not to swap horses crossing a stream; there will be others who will laughingly tell you that the appeal should have been worded, 'Do not swap toboggans while you are sliding downhill.' But it seems to me that the more truthful, the more accurate plea to the people of the nation should be this: 'If the old car, in spite of frequent emergency repairs, has been bumping along downhill on only two cylinders for three long years, it is time to get another car that will start uphill on all four.'"

This speech has been preserved for posterity in "Public Papers and Addresses of Franklin D. Roosevelt," Vol. 1, pages 638-639.

In 1944 the voters of the nation will substitute "eleven long years" in the above quotation and accept the advice given by Candidate Roosevelt. Recent election returns indicate that they have decided that it is high time to swap horses, toboggans, the old auto—and even presidents—in their determination to get across the stream and back to balanced budgets, lower taxes, less regimentation and constitutional government.

The Nazis, we're told, are busily erecting an "impregnable" Atlantic Wall in France. Wonder if they are using some of the material salvaged from the Mareth Line, which was also "impregnable."

Courses in the Japanese language are being offered. Uncle Sam is preparing for the day when he will have a few things to say to Tojo, and wants to make sure he will understand every word.

Rebellion!

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I'm about to have an argument with the proofreader—and I'll win the argument. . . . Or, at any rate, I intend to have my own way. You see, I used the phrase "somebody else's" in an article and when it came out in print, it had been changed to "somebody's else." I don't know who did that, but I suspect the proofreader. . . . I also suspect that he was technically correct.

But I didn't write it that way and I'm never, never, NEVER going to write it that way. It's too fussy and pedantic and unnatural. When I see "somebody's else" in print it pulls me up sharply, reminds me of the man holding the writing, tells me sharply that he is a precise fellow and causes me to suspect he is thinking more of his grammar than of what he is saying. . . . By that precision of his grammar instead of meaning he throws me off the track of his train of thought and I have trouble getting back. . . . So I'm NOT going to write that way. It may be somebody else's way, but it's not going to be mine.

I'll not use such words as "enthusiasm" or "donate" when I mean "give." I'll distinguish between "its" and "it's." I'll not say "those kind of people" when I mean "that kind." Nor will I set down "most unique" in print or speak of "contacting a man." I'll hesitate a little about splitting infinitives, because nine times in ten they shouldn't be split. But I'll NOT write "somebody's else" any more than I'll croak my little finger when I drink tea.

Words should not be the masters of men, men should try to master words. Am I to let those two words, "somebody's else," bully and master me? No, sir! . . . Shakespeare made a few mistakes. Joseph Conrad wasn't always perfect. Franklin Roosevelt once wrote: "I don't care WHO you tell this to." And Thackeray once wrote "a suit of clothes like everybody else's." Thackeray's good enough for me.

Babson Is Bullish About Securities For the Long Pull

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 7—The stock market is ruled partly by emotion. Recent activity has given investors new life; but most investors continue hesitant or seek special situations. Last summer they were optimistic. They looked for great new developments in housing, electronics and other industries. Then they became worried over taxes, national debt and reconversion. Now they worry about politics and the "invasion."

More than 50,000,000 individuals and corporations own War bonds totalling in value about $27,000,000,000. The longer the war lasts the more such funds will pile up. By December 31, 1944, this may rise to more than $40,000,000,000. Money in circulation has increased rapidly for nearly four years. This is now about $20,000,000,000. It includes all cash not represented by bank deposits. A great deal is hoarded currency.

Bank Deposits
Bank deposits now total nearly $49,000,000,000. About seven percent or some $3,400,000,000 belongs to individuals. A large part of this could find its way into the market. Recent talk of providing ex-service men with a bonus of $3,500 to $5,000 each is indicative of the cheapness with which money is regarded in some quarters. It seems as if more individuals will decide to exchange their dollars for stock market equities as inflation creeps upon us.

Personal and Other Debts
In the past two years, instalment purchase obligations, home mortgages, doctors' bills and other personal debts have been nearly cut in half. The means of payment of some $5,000,000,000. United States white citizens are becoming systematic savers and are well-fortified with liquid capital. While receiving wages, they are satisfied with low yields from government bonds. However, as living costs expand, people must either spend their savings or invest them in higher yielding securities. Hence, an ultimate mass return to the stock market—first, as a source of income and second, as a means of maintaining capital in the face of a decline in the value of dollars.

High-grade industrial bonds now yield an average of about 2.50 percent. Most banks, aside from the co-operatives and mutuals, pay only one percent to two percent interest. For income and protection, investors are better off in War bonds. The average yield from high-grade stocks will run about 4.75 percent. In individual instances, yields of seven percent—ten percent in good companies now may be secured. Investors desiring such returns should act now. They may not be available long.

Market Possibilities
Typical market action during recent months has been due to uncertainties over the holding of our war prosperity; to fear that the postwar era may not bring the expected demand for consumer goods; to discussions over the corporate and personal tax situation; and to confusion over domestic or foreign politics. This uncertainty may continue for some time. With corporations maintaining a profit level averaging only that of recent pre-war years, security prices may rise substantially. When the present psychological uncertainties are over, good-grade industrial stocks could easily sell fifty percent higher than they are today! I give five additional reasons therefore:

1. A few "blue chip" stocks are high, but most stocks look cheap to me. For nearly ten years, everything except stocks and real estate has gone up. We are paying more today for labor, high-grade bonds, insurance, and all sort of commodities. Similarly, we will pay more for stocks.
2. The supply of stocks is drying up. Few new issues have come on the market in recent years. Hence, demand may exceed the supply.
3. We forget the great foreign market that has always existed for American stocks. When present blocked currencies are released, a

FINDS NEW GAS METHOD

RESEARCH PROFESSOR at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, Dr. Ernst Berl, above, reports a method for obtaining an inexhaustible supply of gasoline and coal from carbohydrates, bountifully available in plant life. Dr. Berl, reporting the process at the American Chemical Society meeting in Cleveland, said that the process is relatively cheap and simple.

Increased Revenues and Lessened Cost Of War Brighten Federal Fiscal Picture

good many Europeans will scramble for our stocks.

4. The deferred demand for consumer goods should keep our productive capacities busy and take up much slack occasioned by the lessening of war business. Domestic markets will be large. We should also enjoy a good export business. European countries, our Latin-American neighbors and Africa have plenty of gold reserves. They will provide cash markets for our merchandise. Russia should continue a good customer.

5. Excess profits taxes will certainly be reduced if not eliminated. Corporate taxes are at their peak. In a few years the tax trend may be reversed. I further believe that business controls from now on will be handled intelligently. Something will also be done to ease the capital gains tax and to eliminate the double taxation of stockholders.

Confidence Essential

I do not fear inflation if we can continue industrial production on a large scale. I do not look for bank credit liquidation. I see no important decline in commodities. Most of our excess employed, numbering about 6,000,000 people, will go back to their homes, their schools, their farms, or into permanent retirement after the war.

Hence, this wage-earning group will be off the payrolls. They will leave room for the regularly employed and for many demobilized service men. Now is the time for businessmen and investors to quit worrying and to have confidence in the months ahead!

Maryland Farm Musings

By the Extension Service of the University of Maryland

The death losses of horses, mules, cattle, sheep and swine in Maryland from ravages of specific infectious diseases can be approximated at 10,000 annually. To this must be added about 15,000 offspring aborted, born dead, or lost in early life. Poultry losses amount to the rather astounding total of about 3,750,000 per year, including broilers, farm-raised chickens, layers, and turkeys.

Appointment of Mylo S. Downey as State 4-H Boys' Club Agent for the University of Maryland extension service is announced by Dr. T. B. Symons, director. He succeeds E. G. Jenkins, who retired a few months ago after serving in that position for twenty years. He is a native of Washington county, where he was raised on a general dairy farm.

Beginning April 15 support prices on live hogs will again apply only to good and choice barrows and gilts weighing from 200 to 270 pounds. The WFA on that date will terminate the temporary emergency support program for hogs weighing from 270 to 330 pounds.

Eggs eaten by hens bring no return to the flock owner, except that they provide excellent nutrients to lay more eggs, but no poultryman can afford such an expensive diet, says Dr. Morley A. Jull, of the University of Maryland poultry department.

Whether or not to plant vegetable seeds left from last year is a question in the mind of many thrifty victory gardeners. While it is important that no good seeds go to waste, gardeners will do well to test old seeds before planting them.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The federal fiscal outlook is much better than it appeared in the official estimates given out a couple months ago. Net revenues for the fiscal year ending June 30 next are likely to be $2,100,000,000 higher than estimated. Expenditures will be $2,300,000,000 less than anticipated.

In comparison with the estimates officially made in January, 1943, for the fiscal year ending June 30 next, the federal treasury is going to be better off by as much as $19,600,000,000. In other words the excess of expenditures will be lessened by that big sum.

The foregoing figures are derived by expert analysts from a study of the way the revenues are coming in and from the rate at which expenditures are being made. Official estimates have consistently overestimated expenses and underestimated revenues.

The budget receipts for the current fiscal year were estimated in January, 1943, as likely to be $33,800,000,000 and, while there was a revised official estimate in July, 1943, after the enactment of the current tax payment act of 1943, the estimate was officially revised again in January, 1944, and placed at $41,200,000,000 in the current 1944 budget. Now it turns out the collections will be about $43,300,000,000 of which only $500,000,000 will be received in this fiscal year from the revenue act of 1943 recently enacted and known as a $2,300,000,000 tax bill.

Deviation Shown

War expenditures show a considerable deviation also from the official figures. The original January, 1943 estimate for the 1944 fiscal year was $39,700,000,000. While this was revised downward to $32,000,000,000 in October, 1943, and retained at the same amount in the January, 1944, official estimate, indications are that war outlays for the current fiscal year will approximate $30,000,000,000.

There has been little change in non-war expenditures. Hence the net result is that the total excess of expenses over receipts will be $19,600,000,000 less than originally estimated. This is $3,600,000,000 more than the $16,000,000,000 of additional taxes recommended by President Roosevelt in his 1943 budget message and $9,000,000,000 more than the treasury's tax proposal of 1943 amounting to $10,600,000,000. This has been largely accomplished by a nine and a half billion dollar increase in receipts and a 9.7 billion reduction in war expenses. The withholding tax has brought in about $6,500,000,000 of the increase in revenue, while renegotiation of funds amount to about two billion and about half a billion comes from the new revenue law recently passed.

Peak Is Reached

It is believed that the peak in war expenditures has been reached and while revenues might decline somewhat, the possibility is that this decline will be offset by the reduction in war expenses.

It may be said that our financing of the war is proceeding better than anticipated and that the amount of taxes collected as compared with sums borrowed also compares favorably with that of any other situation either in the preceding world war or in any other other country. Not only is a large part of our borrowed money coming from non-banking sources, thus tending to narrow the "inflation gap," but the actual ratio of taxes collected to sums spent is higher in this country than elsewhere.

This is based on the theory that lend-lease expenditures of $10,000,000,000 are really not a part of our own national budget. If, for instance, Britain counted the $4,000,000,000 of lend-lease goods as part of her war expenses, the proportion of income in relation to expenses would be about 43.5 per cent, while this country's income would rise to about fifty per cent of the expenses if lend-lease of $10,000,000,000 were considered a part of the war expenses of other countries and subject to repayment in cash or in kind.

Lend-Lease Uncertain

Lend-Lease, however, is one of those indefinable things which probably will never be calculated accurately except that it is a foregone conclusion that, even after allowance is made for supplies and materials furnished our armed forces abroad, the balance will be heavier on the side of our outlay.

So the America people are doing as well as and in a sense, better than any other people in the world in the amount of taxes paid in relation to outlay. This does not mean that war makes any fiscal situation sound but, in a relative sense, the American achievement is better than was anticipated at the time of our entry into the war more than two years ago.

An Opportunity For Young Men

From the Charleston, W. Va., Daily Mail

Young Americans who possess courage, stamina and sincerity of purpose are sought by the war shipping administration for training as cadet-midshipmen at the United States Merchant Marine Academy, Kingspoint, N. Y. Such training would prepare them for officer billet on deck or in the engine room of the United States merchant vessels—vessels which carry our flag and commerce to every port.

The need for these men increases in direct proportion to the growth of our Victory fleet, which already is the largest in the world.

The profession of ship's officer calls for hardy men who will not flinch at danger, who will not shirk when the work is heavy, and who will not quit when the "going gets tough." Above all, it calls for young men with a strong desire for a life at sea.

Young men between 17½ and 23 years of age, who are unmarried and citizens of the United States, possessing a minimum of fifteen units from accredited schools can qualify as cadet-midshipmen in the United States Naval Reserve. Applications should be sent to the United States Merchant Marine Cadet Corps, Training Organization War Shipping Administration, Washington, 25, D. C.

Specialized training, in general, consists of twelve weeks at basic schools or the academy for preliminary training and basic naval science, followed by not less than six months aboard merchant or training vessels and not less than thirty-six weeks at the academy for advanced study in preparation for the examination prescribed for licenses.

Young men who qualify for this training have an exceptional opportunity to serve the country not only during the national emergency but also during the forthcoming period of peace.

Fire Bomb Plans Show Tokyo Will Have a Hot Time

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—American plans to use fire bombs in greater numbers than explosive missiles indicates that Tokyo is in a "hot time" in more ways than one.

The next time Yank flyers hit Tokyo the city will be shown with thousands of devastating bombs which may put a big dent in the Pacific enemy's ability to check Allied offensive sweeps.

However, military experts warn that this does not mean the so-called "paper" buildings of Japan will be wiped out in one great raid. Tokyo and other cities undoubtedly have been taking precautions to check the spread of flames in event of an incendiary raid.

Credit for the fire bombs used by the Allies goes to experts in the Army's chemical warfare service. The devices are clever modern counterparts of one of the oldest and most effective weapons of war—crude fire balls used by ancient armies.

Hitler's Biggest Problem

The steamroller advance of the Russian armies into the Balkans presents Hitler with one of his greatest military problems.

It has become militarily necessary for the Germans to occupy Hungary, Rumania and Slovakia with troops, but some of these undoubtedly have had to be withdrawn from numbers held in reserve to face the Allied invasion from the west.

In addition, as German troops march into the Balkans, underlying ill-will towards Nazism doubtless becomes more intense among the occupied populations.

Thus, every move made by the German high command to bolster their eastern front creates new unrest and uses up more sorely needed troops with which to face the western invasion.

Stassen Believed Too Young

Although Lieut. Comdr. Harold Stassen, now serving on Admiral William F. Halsey's staff in the South Pacific, has announced himself as "available" for the G. O. P. presidential nomination, political observers figure that he has slight chance of success.

The veteran party leaders consider Stassen, who is in his thirties, as too young and feel that he could not carry the pivotal eastern states, that he is not yet "ripe" as a White House hopeful.

The young former Minnesota governor's principal chance lies in the possibility of a serious deadlock at Chicago.

It is doubtful, observers say, that Stassen would accept second place on the ticket.

Tokens Are Taking

It doesn't take the black market boys long to catch on to a new thing.

OPA reports that the only untoward event during the early days of ration tokens was the disclosure at Baltimore, Md., that one grocery executive had been offered 1,000 tokens for $5. An immediate probe was started.

There have been remarkably few complaints on the new system, however, from housewives and merchants once it got operating. Chain stores are gathering information now on the program to see just how it is working out.

Petrillo Goes Too Far

Capitol observers believe that James Caesar Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, overreached himself in banning the amateur, non-profit-music camp musicians from the airwaves.

Congress is itching for an all-out investigation of the hard-boiled little union chief's operations.

Then, too, a War Labor Board panel has recommended that Petrillo be ordered to lift the ban on production of commercial records which, he claimed, deprive musicians of their livelihood.

The Senate Interstate Commerce committee may probe the activities of the A. F. M., following testimony by Dr. Joseph Maddy, president of the national music camp at Interlochen, Mich., that Petrillo had banned the camp's orchestra from the radio networks.

Factographs

When the Goths conquered Rome the city ransomed itself from the invaders with 4,000 pounds of pepper, for spices then were more precious than gold.

It is estimated that two and a half million families in the United States are making no effort to save or salvage waste paper.

The word alphabet is derived from the Greek letters alpha and beta which correspond to "a" and "b".

A total of 155,148 governmental units levy taxes and render public services in the United States.

Tea was used in China as a medicine rather than a beverage until about 500.

PENICILLIN GALS

By BONNIE WILEY
AP Features Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. — Remember the spotless white kitchen at the church suppers of your childhood? Remember the kindly, gray-haired women, bustling about doing the dishes?

It's like that at the Cutter Laboratories these days. The same kindly, motherly-looking women. The same bustling efficiency. But they're not doing the church dishes this time. They're making penicillin.

One of the nation's few producers of the life-giving drug, the Cutter Laboratories have called upon housewives from the San Francisco bay area to help make the yellow miracle powder which saves wounded men's lives by killing germs, and the housewives, most of whom have never worked before, have responded enthusiastically.

Typical of these is Mrs. Addie Wilson, whose service flag boasts five stars — four for her sons, Charles, George, James and Earl, and one for her nephew, all fighting around the world for Uncle Sam.

"I wanted to do something as close to the war effort as I could to help my boys and I decided to keep so busy I wouldn't have time to worry," Mrs. Wilson explained, carefully filling an endless belt of bottles with an amber-colored liquid upon which the penicillin-producing mold will grow.

It was back in January, 1941, that a little test tube containing the hard, blue-green mold spores arrived at the Cutter Laboratories and was pounced upon by experimenting company scientists under government orders to produce great batches of penicillin.

Manufacture of penicillin, to the inexperienced eye of the layman, seems not too complicated a process.

MRS. ADDIE WILSON: Five stars in her service flag, she helps make penicillin in West-coast laboratory.

Technically, it is. In unscientific language, it goes like this:

Half gallon bottles, whose fluffy cotton stoppers make them look like so many giant ice cream cones, are filled partially with an amber-colored liquid and are placed upon a moving belt which they ride to an ultra-violet ray room (no admittance) where two white-coated young technicians remove the stoppers, squirt in a bit of spore suspension and quickly jam the stoppers back into the bottles before some unwanted bacteria decides to take up residence.

Thus inoculated, the bottles travel to the nice, warm incubation room where they're placed upon their sides and stacked nearly to the ceiling. When fermentation sets in, little white spots develop into a fine web of mold. The web thickens and ruffles. Within the next few days the amber liquid in the bottle becomes covered completely by the mold which now resembles a thick white blanket, dotted prettily with spots of pale blue and turquoise.

Proves Wonderful For Itching Skin

For ringworm symptoms, eczema, athlete's foot or blemishes due to external cause, apply ZEMO freely. ZEMO promptly relieves and also aids healing. Over 25,000,000 packages sold. One trial convinces. 3 different sizes. → ZEMO

It is now that the penicillin enters the picture. For, as it grows, the mold excretes penicillin into the liquid in the bottle in increasing quantities, while the white-coated scientists keep an eagle eye upon developments to see that the penicillin does not lose strength by remaining in the bottle too long.

When tests show it is ready to harvest, the mold is skimmed off and the penicillin, in liquid form, is separated from the amber liquid by a chemical process (don't ask). Then it is frozen and dried.

Completed, penicillin looks like so much flaky, yellow gold—a gold that will mean life instead of death for heroes.

4-H Members Are Eligible For Extension Honor Roll

Farm Problems and Labor Shortage Discussed by Ralph F. McHenry

Anyone who has been a 4-H Club member in Allegany county, whether they have moved away or not, is eligible for enrollment on the Cumberland Junior Extension Club honor roll, it was decided at the meeting Wednesday evening at the county home demonstration agent's office.

Charles Llewellyn, chairman of the honor roll, reported that there should be between 150 to 200 names on the honor roll and only forty have been received, to date. He urges anyone having the information to contact him or other members.

Miss Margaret Ringler, chairman of the Program Planning committee, announced that James E. Spitznas will be the guest speaker at the meeting in June, his topic will be "What Are We Doing and What Can We Do To Reduce Juvenile Delinquency."

Heskett Will Speak
Charles Z. Heskett will be the speaker at the meeting May 3 at 8 o'clock at the court house. His topic will be, "Cumberland and Its Part in Air Transportation." William Shumaker and Mrs. Ruth Johnson Ray will be hosts and Miss Helen Lechlitter and Joseph Steger will be in charge of the recreational period.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, was the principal speaker at the meeting Wednesday evening. In discussing "Farm Problems," he listed farm labor shortage as the greatest problem and said the main reason for the critical situation is the raising of the active army, and the vast demands of industry, which can afford to pay more than the farmer. The speaker touched on the necessity of farm labor for food production and said he believes there is little draft dodging with farming as an excuse.

Mr. McHenry explained that the County War Labor Board consisting of eight men, scattered over the county, does not have the final say about drafting, but produces any information the board requests on the production of a farm and any information warranting extension of deferment. He stressed that a man of draft age, although deferred is still under the control of his draft board and urged them to stick to the job for which he was deferred instead of changing from farm to farm. The fact that 131 per cent as much food and fiber is being produced now as in 1941, which was the peak of a ten year period, shows that the system the selective service follows is working, the speaker pointed out.

Reports are Made
Miss Margaret T. Loar announced that junior extension members who are over 20 years of age have been invited to assist at the Cumberland Community Council Servicemen and Women's lounge, Miss Maude A. Bean reminded the club members they will have the opportunity to donate blood for servicemen when the Red Cross mobile unit is here in June. She also reported on the Martha Logan programs, stressing dehydrated foods. Harry Morgan and Marian Valentine, delegates to the Co-ordinating Council for Juvenile Delinquency, reported on the meeting and urged all club members to assist.

James McHenry, chairman of the Safety Driving committee, outlined some rules suggested by Lee T. Downey, district roads engineers. He stressed the conservation of both car and gasoline by obeying the thirty-five mile an hour speed limit, not starting and stopping by the "jack rabbit tactics", and to watch the curb in parking, so as not "to leave a half inch of rubber on the curb."

Two Men Are Honored At Farewell Party

William Krieriem and Earl Whetsel were honored by the employees of the Ralph Frantz, Cumberland and Ridgeley Markets at a farewell party recently at the Port Ashby firemen's hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Weakley served as toastmaster for the chicken dinner, which was served to twenty-four guests, by members of the Port Ashby auxiliary. The patriotic motif was carried out in the decorations and table appointments.

Mr. Krieriem, who has been with the company for eight years left for service in the army yesterday. Mr. Whetsel has been with the company for ten years and has been accepted in the navy but has not yet received his final orders to report for service. Both were presented gifts and gave responses.

Short talks bidding the men good by and extending best wishes were given by Harry Bean, Frank W. ley, Edward Larkin, Herbert D. Francis Warnick, Mrs. Virginia Halterman and Mrs. Ralph Frantz. Dancing and cards concluded the evening.

Ungirdled Future For American Women, Manufacturers Assert

By DOROTHY ROE
NEW YORK, April 6 (P)—American women faced an ungirdled future today as the corset industry announced stocks of rubber for foundation garments now are practically exhausted.

Issuing an urgent appeal that home-front corset buying be cut to a minimum, the Corset and Brassiere Association of America and the Associated Corset and Brassiere Manufacturers, Inc., announced that existing stocks are barely sufficient to supply the needs of women war workers.

So that these workers would not be subject to non-support, the industry pleaded that the rest of American womanhood abandon plans to streamline Easter suits with new girdles and urged all to hang on to what they had because there might not be more for the duration.

Private Alvin York Enters Armed Forces

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., April 6 (P)—The son of Alvin York has arrived at Camp Wolters with admonition from the famed sergeant of World War I:

To which Woodrow Wilson York, 18 and six feet two, replied: "I can shoot a rifle pretty good now."

Private Woodrow Wilson York, a redhead from Jamestown, Tenn., is in the infantry replacement training center and with him is another member of the York clan, Private John Marion York, 18, also of Jamestown.

Those Marrying Greeks

Young Queen Alexandra Escape Royal Jinx?

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Features Writer

Young Queen Alexandra, daughter of King Peter of Yugoslavia, is the last of the marrying Greeks to contract a brilliant royal marriage, must overcome some sort of jinx if she is to live happily ever after.

Three of the present Greek princesses have married a king or son of a king. The first was Princess Helen of Greece, daughter of King Constantine, who wed Prince Carol (later King) of Rumania. The next was Princess Marina, daughter of Prince Nicholas of Greece and Grand Duchess Helene of Russia, who married Prince George of England, later the Duke of Kent.

Queen Alexandra

But in spite of their brilliant marriages—and sometimes because of them — the beautiful Greeks have known deep sorrow. All have been exiled, some have known poverty, and one was widowed before her thirties. Though two of them married kings, neither has had a throne. And one of them has lived most of her married life in the shadow of her husband's infatuation for another woman.

Princess Helen of Greece, aunt of Marina and Alexandra (who are cousins), began her married life brilliantly and auspiciously. Her husband's family welcomed her warmly. An heir to the throne, Prince Mihail, was born of the union. And for several years Prince Carol lived the life of a crown prince. Then he met red-haired Elena Lupescu, fell in love with her and plunged into an affair that scandalized Europe. Soon he left his country, his wife and his son and spent five years abroad with his favorite.

After Carol returned to Rumania and mounted the throne, he bestowed the title of queen on Helen and sought a reconciliation. But she refused both. Soon afterward her former husband asked her to leave the country and she went, weeping into exile. But when King Carol abdicated in 1940 and left the country with Lupescu, Helen's son, crowned king, brought her back and established her as queen mother amid his people's cheers.

Princess Marina knew the sorrow of exile and poverty in her early years. When her father's country became a republic and her mother's land became the Soviet Union, Prince Nicholas' family took refuge in Paris, where they lived in a small apartment on a very small income. Marina almost despaired of finding a husband after she passed 25. Then her beauty and grace attracted Prince George, son of King George V, and they were married in 1934.

Their wedding in Westminster Abbey was the most brilliant of the Twentieth century. Kings, queens, noblemen and ambassadors packed the abbey, where jewels worth many kings' ransoms blazed beneath the lights as Marina spoke her vows in a shimmering silver gown.

Mrs. C. L. Hastings

of One of Cabin Creek's Best Known Families Says "It's Been Amazing How World's Tonic Brought Relief From My Upset Stomach Condition"

Mrs. C. L. Hastings, Lewistown, Okla., Cabin Creek, near Charles, W. Va., a member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans, says:

"Before I learned of this splendid medicine I suffered a lot because constipation and the various ailments which developed from it. Bile spells were getting so bad that were times I almost needed someone to lead me about. Gas and palpitation. My tongue was coated and I had a bad mouth taste. I slept and ate so poorly that my weight seemed pretty low. Food didn't seem to digest properly. Since taking World's Tonic and using such splendid relief from constipation and its resulting ailments there is an entirely different story to tell. Now I don't suffer from indigestion attacks. Gas, palpitation and belching are leaving me deep so soundly at night and my appetite has picked up so much that I already gained several pounds. I certainly needed badly my bilious spells have been so splendidly relieved and the headaches seem to have left me also. My family remarked that I seem to have improved wonderfully. I advised me to continue on with this good medicine." (Note: Report of relief by delighted user of World's Tonic, to the extent that constipation may be a contributing cause.)

GOOD FRIDAY

For the next few years she queen-ed it in London as the Duchess of Kent, famous for her beauty, wit and chic. Two sons and a daughter were born of her marriage. Then her husband was killed in a flying boat crash in 1942 and beautiful Marina settled into the twilight background of a royal widow, devoting herself to her children and to war work.

Storms swirled about the head of Princess Alexandra of Greece.

daughter of King Alexander. From the moment she was born. She was the daughter of a morganatic marriage, was not recognized as a princess until a year and a half after her birth and was exiled twice by happenings in her turbulent little country.

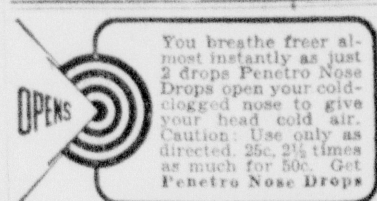

While living in London she met King Peter as any American Red Cross worker and doughboy might meet. She was serving waffles and coffee in a Red Cross Club when the young king walked in to hear a bit of jazz. They fell in love. And on March 21, they were married despite objections from people in both countries who protested they should wait until after the war. Political observers say, however, that the Balkans' stormy political situation may keep Peter from remounting his throne.

So it's an open question whether the last Greek princess to marry a king will ever be crowned queen.

Levin Criticizes Tait, McKeldin Support of Dewey

Says Leaders Seek Seal on Bandwagon

By DONALD SANDERS

BALTIMORE, April 6 (AP)—The Maryland Republican League charged today that Galen L. Tait, chairman of the State Central Republican committee, "is trying to jump on the Dewey bandwagon" in the wake of Wendell L. Willkie's announcement he would make no further attempt to gain the Republican presidential nomination.

Tait and Baltimore's Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin said last night they had conferred with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York earlier this week and had assured him that there was strong support for him in the Free State.

Dewey has reiterated he is not an aspirant for the nomination, but has not said he would refuse it.

Levin Welcomes Support

Meanwhile, Harry O. Levin, Baltimore attorney, who was the first Republican leader in the state to campaign openly for Dewey, said today he welcomed the support of Tait and McKeldin.

Levin, a former state senator and chairman of the State Tax commission and political adviser to the late Gov. Harry W. Nice, has been conducting for about eight months a weekly radio program in support of Dewey.

He said today he planned to open Dewey-for-president headquarters in Baltimore shortly, probably within a week, and that the campaign would otherwise be intensified. Levin said he had undertaken the drive on his own initiative, and did not have Dewey's specific approval.

McFaul Scores Tait

President John H. McFaul, Jr., of the Maryland Republican League, charged in a prepared statement that Tait had promised his support to Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio and had also conferred earlier with Willkie supporters.

"Everyone knows that the real Dewey man in Maryland is and has been Harry O. Levin, who has been plugging for thirty-six weeks on the radio for Dewey," McFaul declared. "Mr. Levin tried many times to get Tait and McKeldin to go along with Dewey but they absolutely refused. They could not see Dewey as the logical candidate."

"Harry O. Levin was out on the firing line battling for Dewey when others were silent and were refusing to commit themselves. Now Tait, in his usual fashion, is trying to steal the show and credits from another to whom he is rightfully due."

McFaul is aligned with the Republican faction of Paul Robertson, Baltimore city Central committee chairman, which has frequently been at odds with the Tait-McKeldin faction.

Confusing Primary Contest

Meanwhile, the party's presidential preference primary continued as a somewhat confusing contest between a vote for Willkie or a vote for an uncommitted delegation to the national convention.

Willkie was the only person to file in the primary, and although he has ceased to be an active candidate, his name cannot be removed from the ballot because the deadline for withdrawals passed thirty days before the May 1 primary.

The delegation, however, even if instructed, need not vote for a man if the delegates conscientiously think he has no chance to win the nomination.

Charges Deception

McFaul asserted in his statement that published reports that Dewey had invited Tait and McKeldin to New York to confer with him was an attempt by Tait "to deceive Republicans into believing that Governor Dewey has made an exception in Maryland to his firm policy in not taking an affirmative part in obtaining the presidential nomination."

"Mr. Tait and Mr. McKeldin," he continued, "would have people believe that Governor Dewey has asked them to come and confer with him. This is so ridiculous and so contrary to fact as to make increasingly obvious the fact that Tait is trying to use the name of Governor Dewey for a selfish political purpose."

"It is a well-known fact that Tait and McKeldin had promised the Bricker people their support and that a representative of Mr. Bricker has been in constant touch with the mayor's office."

"Now that it is clear that Governor Dewey is in the lead for the nomination and could have it for the asking, Tait has betrayed the Bricker people and is trying to jump on the Dewey bandwagon."

"But the question is, how can Tait promise that which he doesn't have—the delegates to the national convention? That is a matter which will be decided at the primary election on May 1."

The first session of the supreme court in the United States was held in New York city in 1790.

Reed Asserts Willkie Talked Himself to Defeat

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP) — Senator Reed (R-Kans.) commented on the Wisconsin primary election defeat of Wendell L. Willkie "talked himself" to defeat.

It looks as if he talked himself into an impossible situation," said the Kansan.

"I think Willkie is a man with brains, energy and ability, but that he is a worst case that can be cited of a man talking himself into an impossible situation and the Wisconsin returns show it. Dewey now has the political logic on his side; sentiment in Kansas is predominantly with him."

Argentina Gets New Weekend

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The "Argentine Monday" has replaced the "English Saturday" for public employees in Tucuman province, hotbed of nationalism.

The long established custom of knocking off on Saturday afternoons has been officially condemned and abolished. Instead, public employees will take Monday mornings off. The new order was decreed by Alberto Baldich, federal intervenor and a leader of Argentina's nationalist elements.

A nationalist newspaper in Buenos Aires labelled the Saturday-afternoon-off custom as a pernicious foreign importation.

It's All Done With Mirrors

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Because Hazel Hallam, 12, can take a hint and act upon it without resorting to involved red-tape, mechanics at La Guardia field, New York, probably are finding it easier to tinker with airplane engines.

Her uncle, William (Jerry) Wahly, a mechanic in Pan-American Airways transatlantic hangar at La Guardia, informed Hazel that his shop needed mirrors to study otherwise hidden parts of planes.

Hazel and her seventh-grade classmates in Quentin Roosevelt public school collected forty-eight mirrors, and sent them with instructions to "keep them flying."

The single ring ceremony was performed in the Methodist church in Ashland, Ky., with the pastor, the Rev. Howard W. Whitaker, officiating, on Saturday afternoon, March 11, at 3:30 o'clock.

The bride wore for her marriage a poudre blue street length wool suit with brown accessories and wore a corsage of white orchids. The wedding ring used for the ceremony is a family heirloom given the bride by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Virginia Campbell, is seventy-five years old.

Miss Glenna Mae Holcomb, Charleston, and classmate of the bride at Marshall college, was maid of honor at the wedding. per cent of the budget of India is being spent for the war, and no country with the exception of occupied China has suffered from the war more than has India, he said.

Famine Is Serious

As a result of the famine in India, which he said was precipitated by the war, a million people have died in the last six months, many of them dying on the streets of Calcutta.

Although he termed it necessary, Krishnaya said there is "no office of price administration in India" and war profiteers there go unchecked.

Eight to ten per cent of the people control the wealth, he pointed out, and "since the British occupation the rich have grown richer and the poor have grown poorer." What India "must have," he declared, "is a government existing for all people and not for a chosen few."

Two new members were inducted into the club. They are Dale Robertson, general manager of WTBO, and E. Fred Avers, of the Kenneweg Company.

Ickes Predicts Fuel Restriction

Sees Coal Scarcity During Next Winter

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—Restrictions on use of coal probably will have to be tightened still further next winter, Secretary Ickes forecast today, because drafting of younger miners will increase the gap between production and needs.

The interior secretary and war fuel administrator gave no hint of what restrictions he has in mind in telling a press conference of this prospect. Officials have held out against coal rationing because it would present many difficulties since types of coal vary greatly in heat content.

The amount of coal which may be purchased or stockpiled already is under restrictions for most types.

Ickes said he had about given up hope for occupational deferment of any miners under age 26 although he has asked it for those aged 22 through 25 who have had three years experience.

A recent survey disclosed there are 36,000 miners under 26, he related, and he estimated 20,000 would be inducted if no occupational deferments are granted — a figure meaning 16,000 would be classed 4-F or deferred for miscellaneous reasons.

Ickes said drafting of these 20,000 would mean a loss of 28,000,000 tons of coal, bringing the prospective deficit in the coming season's production to 54,000,000 tons. A 26,000,000-ton deficit under the year's requirements is in prospect with existing manpower, he explained.

Two Judges Get Into Fist Fight

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 6 (AP)—Two veteran circuit judges got in a fight today and among the swinging fists and harsh words was a flying cuspidor.

Judge Robert J. Wheeler, about 60, said he went to the chambers of Judge John C. Morrow, 53, to apologize because he had granted a probation hearing to a negro without knowing that Judge Morrow already had accepted a guilty plea in the case.

"Judge Wheeler called me a liar and I hit him," Judge Morrow reported, declining elaboration.

"We became involved in an argument," Judge Wheeler said, "and Judge Morrow struck me with his fist. I tried to protect myself with a cuspidor, throwing it at Judge Morrow when he started at me with an ash stand."

Japs Plotted To Sink U. S. Warship Twenty Years Before Pearl Harbor

By BIRT DARLING
Central Press Correspondent
ANN ARBOR, Mich.—The Japs aimed their first blow at America in 1921—twenty years before Pearl Harbor. You have the word of William Herbert Hobbs, former head of the geology department of the University of Michigan, for that. The only white man ever to have been given the opportunity of making a thorough inspection of the forbidden Nipponese isles of Micronesia—the "unsinkable fortresses" of the Pacific—Hobbs was extended permission to make a geological survey in this region of mystery in 1921 by both Washington and the Imperial Japanese government. "I had been set down at Ponape. In addition to exploring on the island I gave some time to soundings made from a native outrigger canoe within the lagoon enclosed by the encircling coral reef," relates Hobbs.

"There were still two days remaining before the scheduled arrival of the Japanese cruiser Yodo to transfer me to Truk. "I was engaged in sounding work on the atoll of Ant, lying to the west of Ponape where I had been HOBBS—He tells of Jap treachery, kindly conveyed by Chief Napei of the Ronkite tribe, when my attention was called by one of my native canoe men to smoke which was rising beyond the rim of the coco palms. It could be none other than the Yodo—two days ahead of schedule.

"Operations were at once halted and we started toward the lagoon entrance. We were caught in a sudden squall and downpour—a daily occurrence—and managed to get through.

"The cruiser, meanwhile, had arrived outside. We heard the chains rattle through the hawse-holes as she came to anchor.

Ahead of Schedule
"Before I could reach the lagoon entrance a whaleboat had come within hail, and in broken English it was explained to me that the Chikuzen Maru, a Japanese warship scheduled to pick us up, had reached Truk much ahead of schedule, was waiting there for me, and the cruiser's commander would regard it as a favor if I would be ready to leave the next day.

"I replied that I would leave at once, and was soon aboard, where I was received by Com. Tokiwa. Oddly enough, I was assigned to the conning tower for my special quarters. It was explained to me that this was necessitated by the crew being greatly crowded through its large complement of officers.

"At the Washington (disarmament) conference there was at that moment, as I knew from dispatches, a sharp controversy over whether Japan should be allowed to remain in possession of Yap and of the other Pacific mandated islands.

"Throughout the cruise I dined with Com. Tokiwa and was shown every courtesy. This brought me to reflect upon the unusual combination of circumstances which allowed me to visit at just that moment and under such auspices the island that was the principal bone of contention.

"Malakal, the commercial—and at the time the only—harbor of the Pelews, is, as an Adm. Nosaki had fully advised me, a difficult and dangerous one. I was to reach it on the U. S. Bittern, which was to receive me on board at Yap.

"Admiral Nosaki, therefore, kindly gave me the letter call of the Goror wireless station inside Malakal harbor. The Chikuzen Maru, which was to take me to Yap, would precede the Bittern, and on receiving the call would send out its launch to pilot us in.

Unconcealed Hostility
"Already, on the voyage to Yap, Captain Fujisawa of the Chikuzen Maru, of all the Japanese officials with whom I came in contact, had impressed me as very hostile to Americans and he took no pains to conceal it.

"He instructed me with care to arrive off Malakal as nearly as possible at 4 in the afternoon.

"All down the east coast of the Pelews the Bittern radio sent out the Goror letter call without reply.

and even when we stood in the harbor entrance at a little before 4 o'clock, and could clearly make out the Chikuzen Maru anchored inside, there was no response.

"We had on board both the U. S. and the Japanese charts of the channel, and though the channel buoy appeared displaced from its position on both charts, Captain Bachman, after considerable delay, decided to make the entrance, despite the glare of the western sun.

"Here, Yankee ingenuity came to the fore. After making a turn, and now with the sun behind us, we entered the channel, able to see what lay ahead.

"Suddenly we saw the green water over the reef—a reef we had missed by feet, thanks to the misplaced buoy.

"We now had no doubt that a deliberate attempt had been made to set us down upon that reef!

Capt. Fujisawa had only lame excuses to offer, and these deceived no one.

"The day preceding our departure from contested Yap, Capt. Bachman in the launch surveyed the harbor entrance and we went out with the sun at our backs and a favorable tide. The channel buoy was, we noted, now in its correct position as indicated on the charts.

"The evening preceding our departure a dinner was tendered us by the Japanese governor, with Fujisawa as master of ceremony and interpreter. The flag of Bittern was borrowed and was placed with the Japanese flag at the entrance to the dining hall—to indicate the "amity" between the nations!"

Sitting Proves A Hard Job

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—
There's a reason why some squirming delegate now arises in the middle of nearly every two-hour session of the Missouri constitutional convention to move for a five minute recess.

The motion always carries. The reason: The delegates are seated upon hard-wood chairs, borrowed from the state university. They are barely related to the stuffed-leather seats legislators usually enjoy.

The hard seats also have contributed to oratory. As one delegate explained, "a fellow has to stand up to rest."

Increases in municipal fire protection costs and fire losses for the last year over 1942 are shown in a survey by the International City Managers Association.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It's Tunesful; It's Gay--
It's "Broadway Rhythm"

A gay and tunesful musical, star-studded with fine entertainment, is to be found at the Maryland theater starting tomorrow when the

M-G-M's technicolor comedy, "Broadway Rhythm," is playing. George Murphy co-stars with lovely Ginny Simms, radio's favorite singing sweetheart, making her screen debut in technicolor. Loaded with lilting tunes, plus the music of Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra, "Broadway Rhythm" is the story of a successful Broadway producer who hits a snag in his career when he decides to go "arty" and a hitch in his romantic plans when the Hollywood star, played by Ginny Simms, determines to produce a play on her own with the co-operation of Murphy's father and kid sister.

"Up in Arms" Starts
Liberty Run Tomorrow

George Mathews, of the New York stage, six feet two and one-half inches tall, weighing 225 pounds, and said to have a face that would terrify William Bendix, is cast by Samuel Goldwyn in the role of "Blackie" in "Up in Arms," technicolor comedy with music with Danny Kaye as star. The picture opens at the Liberty Saturday. Mathews, recently playing the hard-boiled sergeant in "The Eve of St. Mark" on Broadway, is in the "Up in Arms" cast with Dinah Shore, Dana Andrews, Constance Dowling, Louis Calhern and Benny Baker. He has been seen on Broadway in "Out of the Frying Pan," "The Night Before Christmas," "Retreat to Pleasure," "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" and "Processional." "Up in Arms" is his first picture.

WHEN GEORGE MURPHY and Ginny Simms have moonlight and roses as company you know romance is having its fling. George is a prominent Broadway producer in M-G-M's "Broadway Rhythm," the film in technicolor starting tomorrow at the Maryland theater, and Ginny Simms is a fading film star in search of an illuminating part in a Broadway show. A stellar supporting cast contributes humor, music and novelties galore. And to boot there's Tommy Dorsey and his musicians.

O'Connor To Release 1,000 Minute Men

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 6 (P)—Governor O'Connor announced today that he planned to release approximately 1,000 men from the Maryland minute men and that he hoped they would transfer to the state guard.

Companies affected are the Eastern Shore and Anne Arundel county groups.

O'Connor indicated that he might take similar action with the remaining 4,735 minute men throughout the state if selective service calls continued to deplete the authorized strength of the guard.

The governor said the action was in line with a suggestion in New York state recently when Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, New York guard commander, recommended that New York might have to draft men to keep the complement of the guard at necessary strength.

Rocking Chair Softball League Reorganized with Six Outfits

Clubs Will Be Backed by Fraternal Groups; Season Will Open Early in May

A half-dozen clubs, all representing local fraternal organizations, will comprise the Rocking Chair Softball League for the 1944 season. The P. O. Eagles, Knights of Columbus, B. P. O. Elks, Knights of Pythias and Woodmen of the World were represented at a preliminary organization meeting last night at the K. of C. home. The other outfit will be the L. O. O. Moose, who notified league officials that they intend to retain a berth.

Graydon "Swede" Dunlap, representing the Eagles, said that most of the players who represented the City Police in last year's league will affiliate with the P. O. E., the only newcomer to the circuit. The City Police, State Guards and Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, all members last season, apparently won't field teams this year.

Attending the meeting were Dunlap, representing the Eagles; Jim Browning, K. of C.; Gene Gunning, Elks; Arthur "Loc" Brant, K. of P.; and Bruce Lee, Woodmen of the World.

Brant was re-elected president and treasurer and Gunning will again serve as secretary. The group decided to hold another meeting on Thursday, March 20, at the K. of C. home when rosters and tentative schedules will be submitted.

It was proposed that the season get under way the week of May 7 and that a total of twenty-five games for each club with each team meeting the other outfits each five times be played.

The Shaughnessy playoff system in which the four top clubs at the end of the regular season battle it out for the championship was approved. The K. of C. won last year's title series.

Age restrictions of players were discussed but no official action was taken. It was proposed, however, that minimum age remain at 30 with each club being permitted to use two or three tossers under that age.

The entrance fee of $5 will remain the same. It was tentatively agreed to play games on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Sophs Expected To Give Braves Additional Punch

Bob Coleman, Clubs New Pilot, Depends on Nieman and Workman

By JACK HAND
WALLINGFORD, Conn., April 6.—If Evansville Bob Coleman can find the right stuff to spike the Boston Braves' anemic punch he figures to improve the club's 1943 position in his first year as a big league manager.

Adding that wallop depends on the sophomore outfielders—Butch Nieman and Charley Workman—and a block of new infield candidates.

Coleman knows that he can expect passable pitching from Al Javery, Jim Tobin, Nate Andrews and Charles (Red) Barrett who accounted for fifty-seven wins on last year's sixth place outfit.

Reinforcements are promising but few in number. Carl Lindquist and Ben Cardoni from the Braves' Hartford farm may be ready to take their turns. Lindquist, who was discovered by an Elmira, N. Y., taxi-cab driver, won fifteen and compiled a 2.61 earned run average in the Eastern League. Cardoni won ten.

The SPORT TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—Don't be too tough on these young pitchers who will be breaking into the major leagues this year if the batters start to pin their ears back, ear by ear. Some of the kids should be breaking into class C, and besides, they might be trying for a record.

The record for the highest earned-run-average, that is, and you'd be surprised who holds it now, and how some other pitchers who later became good, journeyman flingers had E. R. A.'s for their first major league year you couldn't count without taking off your shoes.

The champion in this category is Lone Warneke, the Chicago Cub chucker recently inspected and passed for army service. Warneke's E. R. A. his first time up with the Cubs in 1930 was—hold your hats, now—FORTY-FIVE.

In all fairness it must be explained Warneke pitched only one inning. He walked five men, allowed two hits and was nicked for the five runs, and was on his way to Reading before home plate cooled off.

Wen 22 Two Years Later
Also, as an added indication you can't tell how tall an oak tree will grow by looking at the acorn, Warneke won twenty-two games while losing only six for the Cubs two years later and was chosen on the league all-star team.

Warneke was the champion, but there were others who did their best to make a name for themselves, in reverse. There were Denny Galehouse, of Cleveland, and Johnny Murphy, of the Yankees, for instance, each of whom had an E. R. A. of eighteen his first year up. Bug Thomas, breaking in with Washington, didn't do so badly, having an average of only twelve, but two years later he zoomed to twenty-seven at Albany. Albany seemed to be a tough spot, for Johnny Rigney had the same average for his work there in 1935. However, he pitched only two innings.

Others whose first year in the majors couldn't be termed a howling success were Ira Hutchinson, 13.50 with the White Sox; Ken Chase, 13.50 with Washington; Bob Muncie, fifteen with the Browns; Harry Eisenstat, 12.60 with Brooklyn; Buck Newsom, eleven with the Giants; Truett Sewell, 12.27 with Detroit; Claude Passeau, twelve with Pittsburgh; Clyde Shoun, 13.50 with the Cubs; Lee Grissom, 15.43 with Cincinnati; and Jack Wilson, twelve with the Athletics.

Played in Few Games
Naturally these men were in few games their first year, which accounts for the whopping figures. This year there will be more really raw rookies than formerly, but it is doubtful if they'll wind up with E. R. A.'s such as the above. In other years when a rookie didn't look too good in his first few starts he promptly was detached and shipped back for further seasoning.

This year no matter how faltering a kid pitcher looks he's pretty liable to be kept, for want of someone better, and should improve with every start. Anyway, if some of them look pretty terrible, remember some future stars looked pretty sorry in their debut. They might have a fire ball, but they were no ball of fire.

Candidates for the Woodmen of the World softball team of the Rocking Chair League will meet next Wednesday night at 7:30 at the W. O. W. hall.

Empire State's Racing Program Opens Tomorrow

Jamaica Launches 25-Day
Meet; Large Wagering
Boost Indicated

By FRITZ HOWELL
NEW YORK, April 6 (AP)—The Empire State's racing season, which in 1943 pulled $284,635,711 through the pari mutuels — of which $19,050,692 went to the state treasury — gets under way Saturday with a twenty-five-day meeting at Jamaica.

Although the year's calendar calls for only 181 days of racing, as compared with 190 a year ago, indications are that there will be a big boost in betting.

Transportation problems have been eased, in that trains will be permitted to go direct to the tracks, although parking lots will again be closed. Last year the 3,523,554 paying customers had to walk as far as a mile and a half each way from regular transportation lines — but despite that handicap they hiked the wagering total about sixty per cent over the $175,158,374 total of 1942.

The Jamaica meeting, which runs through May 6, lists eight stake races beginning with the traditional Paumonok on opening day. The first day's feature, a $7,500 added event for three-year-olds and up is a six-furlong dash inaugurated in 1906. Last year it attracted such a large field that it was run in two sections, each with $7,500 added, and Apache and With Regards were the winners.

The Jamaica purses total $269,900, with $77,500 in stakes.

Another Jamaica feature is the $25,000 added Wood Memorial, scheduled April 22, which last year provided Count Fleet with the spring board from which he hopped to his sensational "six for six" string of victories which included the Kentucky derby, Preakness, Withers and Belmont.

After Jamaica launches the northern season, Pimlico and Narragansett will follow next Wednesday, and a few days later they'll be running in Kentucky and Illinois.

Randolph Field Will Play Big-Time Grid Teams This Fall

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 5 (AP)—Randolph Field, which stayed in the nation's headlines last fall with a gridiron record that included a 7-7 tie with mighty Texas in the Cotton Bowl, will play big-time football again next season.

Travel restrictions which would have held army air field teams to their bases have been lifted, giving a big boost to football in the Southwest with such fields as Randolph, Lubbock and Abilene army air base planning major schedules.

Last year Randolph had most of its games at home and was allowed to play those away because the schedule had been arranged before the twenty-five-mile limit went into effect.

After the air forces training command announced air field teams could travel for games, Randolph arranged meetings with Southwest Conference members—Rice at Houston Sept. 30 and Texas at Austin Oct. 7—and is after other college opponents.

"Warlike Pitching"

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 6 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman of the twenties, would like a crack "at some of this wartime pitching" in the major leagues he said today.

"I am hoping that something will turn up," said the great Rajah, just back from Vera Cruz, Mex., where he managed a team from the start of the season until he said he had a disagreement with the club owner.

He reported he was in good shape and walked once and hit a homer in his two appearances as a pinch hitter in Mexico.

Bengough Shows Brave Catchers Tricks of Trade

Break for Boston Outfit when Washington Re- leased Coach

By FRANK ECK

WALLINGFORD, Conn., April 6.—Benny Bengough probably could go on for hours telling about the base he ever stole in his seven years with the Yankees. But Benny wasn't built for speed and today at his job is to help the Boston Braves' catchers.

It was a break for the Braves when Washington released Benny as coach.

I saw where the Senators signed George Uhle, the ex-Cleveland pitcher, so I investigated," says Bengough. Bob Coleman, whose job is in spring training here, was exclusive Chouteau school.

I figured Benny must have been out so I immediately got on the phone in Evansville, Ind., and called Bengough at St. Louis.

Benny was a bit surprised when I asked him if he wanted a job, but he said "I do," said Benny, and that was that.

Bengough batted only 259 with the Yankees after being with Buffalo and he was a smart receiver. The former Niagara U. star coached for two years and helped send Joe Judge, Jack Haley and Pete Snider to the majors. At Joplin, Mo., he managed Johnny Lindell, Johnny Surrin and Al Gerheuser. His last four years were with Washington as a coach.

"My greatest thrill?" queries Benny. "Why Babe Ruth! In 1927 with that great Yankee team Ruth hit sixty homers and Lou Gehrig collected forty-seven."

In the 1928 World Series with the Cards, Bill Sherdel quick-pitched the Babe and struck him out but the pitch was ruled out of the series and Babe had another strike coming. Well the Babe sent that next pitch into center field for a homer, one of three he hit in the fourth and final game.

Then there's George Case down in Washington. Boy when he steals bases and you try to say "wow," he has the base stolen before you can see his mouth."

Though Benny is very active — he catches batting practice one hour each day — he has no illusions about a comeback.

"I can catch all right," says Benny, "but I can't throw. I suppose if the club needed me badly I'd be able to go a few innings."

Hold on! We've got a couple of good catchers on this team in Phil Masi and Clyde Klutz, and 17-year-old Jim Clark from the Chester, Pa., sandlots looks all right."

And they'll probably improve after Benny imparts some of the savvy he picked up during his twenty-six years in organized ball.

"Benny has helped me a lot," says Masi who is putting in his sixth season with the Braves. "He'll teach us plenty before the season is over and he really knows how to handle pitchers."

Klutz, who, like Masi, has been classified 4-F, also admits Benny's teachings are paying dividends.

"I've learned plenty in one week," says Clyde. "I was putting my left foot down wrong until Benny came along. He straightened me out and I now get my throws off quicker."

Those who believe that Jug McSpaden's record was due partly or largely to so many missing stars have another guess coming. You can still measure golf abilities by the scores turned in. McSpaden's average through the winter campaign measures well up with the best par-beating tour of former years when we had the entire flock on a parade.

To beat McSpaden this early season the winner usually had to beat par by ten or twelve strokes.

I haven't the exact figures at hand but I'd say that the scoring was better than any winter-touring golfer has yet shown — and that even such missing stars as Sammy Sneed and Ben Hogan couldn't have done any better.

Years ago a tall, slim young sapling from the Ozarks cleaned up on the winter circuit. His name was Horton Smith, now in the service.

The Joplin phenomenon, master of the short game, won seven or eight big tournaments.

Then Jimmy Demaret, the singing Texan, took charge of the winter campaign a few years back, winning week after week. I don't believe that either scored on a level with McSpaden through the 1943-44 tour.

Strangely enough none of these has ever won a United States open; one of the toughest in all competitions. It took Craig Wood, one of the best, just twenty years to win his first at Port Worth.

The Test of the Open

I'll tell you how tough it is to win a United States open. Such great golfers as Macdonald Smith, Harry Cooper, Ben Hogan, Horton Smith, Mike Brady, Jack Huthinson, Tommy McNamara, Henry Picard, Leo Nichols, Bobby Cruikshank, Leo Diegel, these and many others, were never able to break through.

Bobby Jones is far in front along with Willie Anderson of a much earlier era. Hagen and Sarazen each won twice. You know how good they were, and this covered over twenty years.

Strangely enough five amateurs have finished in front. Francis Ouimet was the first at Brookline in 1913. Then Jerry Travers came through at Baltusrol in 1915. Chick Evans won at Minikahda in 1916. Bobby Jones won his first at Inwood in 1923 — and then won three others. After that Johnny Goodman closed out the amateur list in Chicago.

Such great golfers as Byron Nelson, Craig Wood, Tommy Armour, Long Jim Barnes and Johnny Farrell won only once, after many years of trying.

The United States open has always been the hardest nerve pressure ever in sport. It not only demands top skill, but also the ability to concentrate for twelve hours packed into three days. You are one against two hundred challengers.

Ever try to concentrate for about ten minutes at a time? The odds are you can't do it.

Vardon, Braid and Taylor won sixteen British opens. But the United States competition has been much harder since there were so many more stars, including many from Scotland and England.

Gentry Promises To Win for Tigers

By CHIP ROYAL

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 6 (P)—If the Detroit Tigers can keep James (Double P) Ruffus (and 4-F) Gentry from being lonesome and arrange his itinerary, they may have the rookie pitcher of the year.

The six foot one, 185 pound Carolinian has control, a strong arm, poise, and a cool head on the mound, according to many baseball men who have followed him since his debut with Landis of the North Carolina State League eight years ago.

But, several times in the course of his diamond career, Ruffus has become lackadaisical about keeping appointments, and his teammates have had to get along without him.

Ready To Concentrate

"That won't happen this year, though," assures Gentry in his low-toned southern drawl. "I've brought mah wife and son to camp with me. They're goin' to stay with me, too, and now I can concentrate on mah pitchin'."

He's a workhorse of the Dizzy Trout type. Some of the veterans in camp here say that if the Tigers ever get short of pitchers, due to draft calls, Dizzy and Rufe could control the situation by pitching every third day.

Manager Steve O'Neill is hoping that it won't come to just Trout and Gentry. As a matter of fact, he has two other 4-F heavies, Hal Newhouse and Frank Overmire, and he is counting on making these men his big four.

Last year with Buffalo, Rufe hurled 285 innings. He won twenty games and lost sixteen. He came to the Tigers late in the season and won one while losing three.

His American League debut wasn't a good test for the powerful Daisley Station, N. C. boy, according to Manager O'Neill.

"I've been around the big leagues for a long time," says Steve, "but outside of Bobby Feller, I don't know anyone who can touch his fast ball, or do a cooler job out there on the mound."

"The kid's got an arm that should score a lot of victories for us this year," continues O'Neill. "He lost a couple of tough ones last September, and he'll be a tougher customer this year."

As far as Rufe is concerned, the only thing he wants is hot weather, and he'll be a tougher customer this year.

"Let that hot weather come," he draws, "and I'll pitch every day if they want me to Man, I thrive in that."

Bear for Work

Gentry has seen heavy duty every season since 1938. He has never won less than ten games and, outside of 1942 with Buffalo, when he won ten and lost thirteen, he has always had more than thirty games in his combined won and lost columns.

"He can sure pitch plenty," says Al Vincent, coach of the Tigers. "He's come a long way from the country boy who reported to me in Port Pierce, Fla. in 1942. He didn't look like a ball player then, but mister, you're going to have to go some, to find a better rookie this year."

The Wrecking of Old Man Par

With so many golfing stars in war service, it is something to note that Old Man Par, that vicious throtter of the duffer and the average player, has taken one of the worst beatings of his long and moribund career this winter season.

With such par wreckers as Sammy Sneed, Ben Hogan, Porky Oliver, Horton Smith, Vic Ghezzi, Jimmy Thompson, Lawson Little, and many more in the army and navy, the few survivors left have turned in one of the most remarkable records in sport.

The facts show that golf, in spite of its headline depletion, has kept closer to old time class than any other major competition. A record of ten major winter tournaments shows that the winners have beaten par by something like 100 strokes.

Jug McSpaden and Byron Nelson have been the two main annihilators who have contributed most of the damage. McSpaden picked up over $13,000 in war bonds and Nelson passed the $10,000 mark as they continued to rip from eight to ten strokes off par figures from California to the eastern seaboard. Nelson was ten under par and McSpaden was nine under par in the last test at Knoxville. This was only a normal act.

Dutch Harrison from the army, Sammy Byrd from the navy and Chick Harbert from the air force all contributed to the partial destruction of the duffer's mortal enemy.

So did Craig Wood, the United States holdover open champion in spite of a bad back that was no big help.

Pittsburgh Mitt Club Plans Four Eight-Rounders

Show Looms as One of the Best-Balanced of Indoor Season

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 6.—Although there isn't an outstanding name on the whole card the next fight show to be presented by the Rooney-McGinley Boxing Club at the Gardens looms as one of the best balanced of the waning indoor fight season. Four eight-rounders are on the program as follows:

Juste Fontaine vs. Ruby Garcia. Phil Muscato vs. Otto Blackwell. Bee Bee Wright vs. Bobby Maloney and John D. Vorce vs. Bob Jacobs.

At least three of the four matches will be punching affairs with Vorce supplying the comedy angle against a pretty good fighter in Jacobs, who hails from Philadelphia. Jacobs showed here once before winning an easy decision from Mose Brown.

The piece de resistance is the Fontaine-Garcia pairing. Originally scheduled for March 20, the match was postponed when Fontaine took ill. He is back in shape again and ready for what should turn out to be a knock-em-down-and-drag-em-out affair. Both boys are club fighters who delight a crowd.

Muscato and Blackwell will be meeting in a return number. They stole the show on the Costantino-Miller card and are expected to hammer away at each other again with as much gusto as the first time. Muscato won the first bout but Blackwell gave him a stiff argument of it all the way.

The Bee Bee Wright-Bobby Maloney battle is another which should turn out to be a slugfest. Both boys are heavy punchers and the local rivalry between them is enough to guarantee a good battle all the way.

Tigers Will Oppose
Soldiers Team Today

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 6 (P)—Spring attendance of the Tigers has fallen off this year, but a crowd of 1,000 fans, most of them from Detroit, is assured for tomorrow's exhibition game here with Eight Hundred and Twentieth tank destroyer battalion team of Camp Breckinridge, Ky.

The entire battalion of 1,000 men will make the thirty-five-mile trip to Evansville, in 165 vehicles. Some eighty-five per cent of the men and seven members of the starting team are Detroiters.

John J. Ours, 27, Is Reported Lost In Naval Action

Father of Allegany Grove Coxswain Is Notified by Secretary Knox

John Jacob Ours, 27, coxswain, United States Naval Reserve, was killed in action when the merchant ship on which he was serving as a member of the armed guard crew was torpedoed March 2, 1943 and lost in the North Atlantic, according to a letter received by his father, Marcellus C. Ours, of Allegany Grove, from Frank Knox, secretary of the navy.

Secretary Knox's communication, dated March 23, 1944, states that although the area was searched extensively, during the interim of a year, there has been no information received which indicates that any of the personnel on board the torpedoed vessel survived. He added that death is presumed to have occurred March 3, 1944, which is the day following expiration of an absence of twelve months.

Knox Extends Sympathy

"I extend to you my sincere sympathy in your great loss and hope you may find comfort in the knowledge that your son gave his life for his country, upholding the highest traditions of the navy," Secretary Knox concluded.

A native of Petersburg, W. Va., Ours enlisted in January, 1941, about one month after the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor. In January, 1943, he received a citation from the navy for having spent seventy-two hours in a lifeboat after his ship was sunk. He finally landed in Russia. He was employed in the service department at the Celanese plant before joining the service.

Three Brothers Serve

He has two brothers in the navy and one in the army air corps. Chief Petty Officer Clair Thomas Ours, believed to be on the high seas, was last heard from in November, 1943. Charles Warren Ours, seaman third class, is stationed near Cuba and Master Sgt. Howard William Ours is a gunner on a Flying Fortress and is stationed in the South Pacific war zone.

Surviving are two other brothers. Robert M. Ours, Chicago; James S. Ours, Cabins, W. Va., and six sisters. Miss Inez Ours, Miss Betty Jane Ours and Mrs. Harry Bramble, of Allegany Grove; Mrs. David Walker, Detroit, and Mrs. Arthur Boucher, Scotia, Calif. The husband of Mrs. David Walker is with the army in Italy while Paul W. Williams is with the United States Marine Corps.

Midland Sailor Tells Of Warfare at Sea

With one German submarine and two German blockade runners now resting "somewhere in Davy Jones' locker," William Beveridge McKinley, 22, Midland, a fire controlman third class aboard one of our fighting ships which sent the Nazi vessels to the bottom, is back in the United States to enjoy a well-earned rest.

The ship on which McKinley was serving added further proof of the sinking of the submarine by capturing most of its crew after a thrilling surface battle.

A precious cargo of rubber was salvaged when McKinley's ship sank the Nazi blockade runners.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. McKinley, Midland, he enlisted in the navy on November 17, 1941 at Baltimore. McKinley wears the American Defense, American theatre of operations and the European-African-Middle-Eastern campaign bars having had convoy and anti-submarine patrol duty in the Atlantic.

William Spriggs Is Cited for Heroism

William Spriggs, Ridgeley, W. Va., a member of the Ridgeley high school football and basketball squads in 1938 and 1939 and now a lieutenant in the maritime service, was recently honored by the British and American governments for heroism displayed when a convoy was undergoing an air attack, according to an article in a trade paper of the Seaman's union.

During the attack, one of the navy gunners on Spriggs' ship was wounded. Spriggs took over the gun and in the course of the battle was given credit for destroying two enemy planes. The incident took place in December 1943. Earlier last year, Spriggs' ship was torpedoed off the American East coast.

His brother, Robert Spriggs, is in the navy.

Three Persons Treated For Minor Injuries

Three persons were treated in Allegany hospital dispensary yesterday for lacerations suffered at their homes.

Shirley, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bucy, 898 Ridgeley street, was treated at 7 p. m. for a severely lacerated right arm suffered, she told attaches, when she fell through a window at her home.

Willie Royce Smith, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith, 17 Shawnee avenue, was treated at 3 p. m. for a lacerated right hand. She told attaches she was injured when she stumbled and fell as she was carrying dishes at her home.

Harmon Hovernal, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hovernal, 218 Knox street, was treated at 4:50 p. m. for a lacerated right arm.

DIES AT SEA—John J. Ours, 27, coxswain, United States Naval Reserve, lost his life when the merchant ship on which he was an armed guard, was torpedoed in the North Atlantic March 2, 1943, according to a letter received by his father, Marcellus C. Ours, of Allegany Grove, from Frank Knox, secretary of the navy. He was a former Celanese plant employee.

Deadline Nears For Taxpayers' Declarations

Fifteen Million People Must File Income Tax Returns by April 15

On or before April 15, fifteen million people, including servicemen who have taxable income after excluding the first $1500 of service pay, must file declarations of estimated income and victory taxes for 1944 and make a quarterly payment on the basis of those declarations. Certain farmers, however, may wait until December 15 before they file returns.

These declarations are part of the pay-as-you-go system of tax collections which enable every taxpayer to keep substantially up to date on his income tax payments. Although the majority of the 50,000,000 people who filed income tax returns had their taxes paid in full through withholding from their wages, almost one-third of this group had incomes in the higher brackets, which necessitate additional payments during the year in order to keep current and not fall behind in their tax payments.

Covers Additional Income

Since a great number of people derive additional incomes from sources where their withholding tax is not collected, the declarations, with its quarterly payments, have the important function of keeping people up to date with their tax payments for 1944.

When the declaration is filed, showing the taxpayer's estimate of his probable tax for 1944, it should be accompanied by the first quarterly installment payment, and the remainder of the tax should be paid on or before June 15, September 15 and December 15.

In making an estimate of probable 1944 tax this early in the year, taxpayers may feel they are unable to make an accurate estimate because of unforeseen changes that may occur later in the year. However the law permits an estimate to be made without penalty for underestimating.

(a) If it is at least eighty per cent correct (or sixty-six and two-thirds per cent correct in the case of farmers), or (b) if it is computed on last year's income at this year's rates and exemptions and is paid on time in quarterly installments, or is paid ahead of time (or, in the case of farmers, is paid on or before the fifteenth day of the last month of the taxable year.

Information Is Available

The declarations and payments should be taken or mailed to the Collector of Internal Revenue in the district in which the taxpayer expects to file his regular income tax return for the year. Additional information may be secured at the Office of Internal Revenue in the post office building here.

Allegany High Students Receive Treasury Department Citations

Miss Nancy Dodge and Ward Jamison Honored as State Winners

An editorial entitled "Why Buy War Bonds?" and two cartoons—"1944 Security Now" and "1944 Security Then"—have won citations from the United States Treasury Department for two Allegany high school students, according to a letter received yesterday by Charles A. Piper, chairman of the Allegany and Garrett County War Finance committee, from Mary B. Mausby, of the schools at war division, Treasury department.

The winners are Miss Nancy E. Dodge, writer of the editorial, and Ward Jamison, who drew the cartoons, which appeared in the Alcoholic Mirror, local school paper February 2.

Win State Honors—Miss Dodge and Jamison, of the Alcoholic Mirror staff, are designated as state winners of the nationwide editorial and cartoon contests sponsored by the War Savings Staff of the United States Treasury Department.

The winning editorial written by Miss Dodge is as follows:

Red Cross Drive Leaders To Make More Plans Today

Officials Are Apprehensive of Results of County Campaign

Apprehensive about the final results of the Red Cross campaign because of the absence of any more complete reports, leaders of the drive to raise $105,000 in this county will meet at campaign headquarters at 4 p. m. today to map further plans to put the drive over the top. Complete reports as yet are few, officials of the drive said, adding that they are urging every soliciting group to submit a report to the campaign office on Saturday or Monday of all contributions received up to that time.

At the meeting of all division leaders this afternoon a complete checkup of results to date will be made and then steps will be taken to meet the campaign quota and put the drive across the goal.

Total is $73,447. Yesterday additional reports of $2,066.51, were submitted, boosting the campaign total to date to $73,447.51 and leaving $31,552.49 yet to be raised. The drive will officially end next week, probably on Wednesday.

Of the total turned in yesterday, $934.51 was reported by Barton, first of the county communities to complete its solicitation. Barton's goal in the drive was $825 and that quota was exceeded by $109. Campaign leaders pointed out that Barton also will receive approximately $171 as its allocation from the contribution authorized by the county commissioners, and, with that added to the amount reported yesterday, will reach a total of $1,109 in contributions.

Ahead of Last Year—Campaign leaders also pointed out yesterday that the Women's division, although not yet finished its solicitation, has raised considerably more than it did last year.

The women have not reached their quota of $18,744 this year, but to date have collected $16,026 which, it was pointed out, is $5,407 more than they were able to raise a year ago, and are confident of reaching their goal.

No report has been received as yet from the National Firms section, leaders of the drive said, but they added that a practically complete report is expected from that group by the end of the week. Goal of the section is $3,900.

Egg Production Up Eighty Per Cent Over Last Year

Because of current record-breaking egg production every man, woman and child in the country is assured of nearly an egg a day throughout 1944, according to figures released here by W. L. Frazee, area supervisor for the War Food Administration's office of distribution.

Production is up nearly eighty per cent over a year ago. It is expected to total more than five billion dozen for the year. About a billion and a half dozen will be needed for direct war uses. The remaining three and a half billion dozen will be available for civilians—or about 350 eggs per person.

Firemen Extinguish Three Minor Fires

A slight fire in the ice house of the City Brewing Company was extinguished last evening shortly after 7 o'clock by Central firemen. The blaze, which firemen said was caused by a short circuit in the wiring, ignited cork that was being used in repairs to the ice house.

West Side firemen were called at 2:33 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Highland avenue to extinguish a grass fire. The company was called at 5:20 p. m. to extinguish a blazing shed and fence at the rear of the home of Mrs. Margaret Morehead, 334 Greene street.

"Why Buy War Bonds? One mother says she buys them for her son killed at Bataan; a little boy puts his money into stamps to bring his father safely home from the Italian campaign; a student purchases them to provide for the future, and his security. Whatever the reason, there is an answer in the heart of every man, woman and child who loves freedom.

"America is fighting the greatest war in her history. She has one aim—victory, to win the war and the peace after the war. And it is the duty of every American to work his hardest to bring that victory as soon as possible.

"Certainly it is unfair to American fighting men to let this war last one day longer than is necessary. Every hour of the war is important, and it should be the goal of every American to do his share to end the war even one hour sooner. Perhaps someone you know and love will remain alive in the last hour of the war because you did what you could, by buying war bonds and stamps—sending the much needed equipment to the soldiers who are fighting.

"If every American boy and girl would work a little harder, the money put into stamps and bonds

Plan Is Approved For Establishment Of Tire Depots

Project May Be Answer to Critical Truck Tire Situation

A new plan for the establishment and operation of truck tire depots in regard to tire rationing and inspection was discussed and approved by official tire inspectors last night at a meeting held in the council chamber of the city hall.

The plan is expected to solve the problem which has resulted from the critical truck tire situation which exists today. The situation has become so serious that it is necessary that no truck tire be removed from service, if it can be recapped or in any way kept in service until that tire is no longer useful and it has delivered its last possible mile.

To assure this, the Maryland State director, Office of Price Administration, will designate qualified recapping plants and tire dealers as truck-tire Re-Inspection depots.

Official tire inspectors who attended the session were told the following qualifications must be met: Truck tire power spreader (capable of spreading 11.00 size truck tire); Personnel (a) must be able to determine whether or not a truck tire should be recapped, rather than replaced, (b) must be able to determine when a truck tire should be used "as is" and consequently run out since a repair to the casing would not be practical; adequate space be provided to store a thirty day stock of "turn-in" truck tires (under cover).

J. William Eggleston, state district rationing officer, and William B. Connolly, state tire rationing representative, outlined the plan to the tire inspectors attending the meeting.

"Why Buy War Bonds? One mother says she buys them for her son killed at Bataan; a little boy puts his money into stamps to bring his father safely home from the Italian campaign; a student purchases them to provide for the future, and his security. Whatever the reason, there is an answer in the heart of every man, woman and child who loves freedom.

"America is fighting the greatest war in her history. She has one aim—victory, to win the war and the peace after the war. And it is the duty of every American to work his hardest to bring that victory as soon as possible.

"Certainly it is unfair to American fighting men to let this war last one day longer than is necessary. Every hour of the war is important, and it should be the goal of every American to do his share to end the war even one hour sooner. Perhaps someone you know and love will remain alive in the last hour of the war because you did what you could, by buying war bonds and stamps—sending the much needed equipment to the soldiers who are fighting.

Plan Is Approved For Establishment Of Tire Depots

Project May Be Answer to Critical Truck Tire Situation

A new plan for the establishment and operation of truck tire depots in regard to tire rationing and inspection was discussed and approved by official tire inspectors last night at a meeting held in the council chamber of the city hall.

The plan is expected to solve the problem which has resulted from the critical truck tire situation which exists today. The situation has become so serious that it is necessary that no truck tire be removed from service, if it can be recapped or in any way kept in service until that tire is no longer useful and it has delivered its last possible mile.

To assure this, the Maryland State director, Office of Price Administration, will designate qualified recapping plants and tire dealers as truck-tire Re-Inspection depots.

Official tire inspectors who attended the session were told the following qualifications must be met: Truck tire power spreader (capable of spreading 11.00 size truck tire); Personnel (a) must be able to determine whether or not a truck tire should be recapped, rather than replaced, (b) must be able to determine when a truck tire should be used "as is" and consequently run out since a repair to the casing would not be practical; adequate space be provided to store a thirty day stock of "turn-in" truck tires (under cover).

J. William Eggleston, state district rationing officer, and William B. Connolly, state tire rationing representative, outlined the plan to the tire inspectors attending the meeting.

Firemen Extinguish Three Minor Fires

A slight fire in the ice house of the City Brewing Company was extinguished last evening shortly after 7 o'clock by Central firemen. The blaze, which firemen said was caused by a short circuit in the wiring, ignited cork that was being used in repairs to the ice house.

West Side firemen were called at 2:33 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Highland avenue to extinguish a grass fire. The company was called at 5:20 p. m. to extinguish a blazing shed and fence at the rear of the home of Mrs. Margaret Morehead, 334 Greene street.

India Supports United Nations, Hindu Declares

Terms Internal Situation "Unsatisfactory," Hils British Rule

Citing figures indicative of the part India is playing in the present world war, Pasupuleti Gopala Krishnayya, Hindu lecturer and author, told members of the Kiwanis club yesterday at their luncheon meeting in Central Y.M.C.A., that "despite anything you may have heard about India, the people of India are for this war and for the United Nations.

Krishnayya added, and with emphasis, that the "internal situation of India is far from satisfactory. Never," he said, "have the British been so unpopular. The policies of Winston Churchill and his war cabinet have not been satisfactory. They have bungled and bungled and the problem has become more difficult."

The British, Krishnayya, who is a former lieutenant in the British army, said, have occupied India for the past 190 years and for the "last fifty to sixty years India has been working for her freedom.

Predicts Freedom

"After the war," he predicted, "nobody can prevent her freedom. We haven't worked to oust John Bull for Hitler or the Mikado nor do we propose to jump from the frying pan of British imperialism into the fire of Nazism, but," he declared, "we are doing everything for this war and for the United Nations because it is to our paramount interest."

For the past sixteen months, Krishnayya said, he has been traveling throughout the United States and, he related, he has noticed one thing with "chagrin." That, he said, is an improper understanding of the role and effort of India in the war.

"We are at war today," he asserted. "India is part and parcel of the United Nations and is fighting shoulder to shoulder with them."

In the last war, Krishnayya asserted, the contribution of India in men, money and material exceeded that of all other members of the British empire except England. Since 1939 up to the present time the contribution of India is even better than in the last war.

India Is Vital

India, he said, is the greatest United Nations' base of supplies as regards war in Asia, and, he pointed out, "if the Allies lose India, they can wind up their affairs in Asia for good."

From India supplies go to MacArthur in Australia, to Chiang Kai-shek in China and to North Africa, he stated. Through lend-lease, in which supplies are being sent to all the United Nations, all owe the United States except India, Krishnayya said.

India, he added, is the only country with a favorable balance of trade and supplies the United States with more than it receives from this country.

Soldiers from India, Krishnayya continued, have been in nearly every major battle of England since 1939 and many now are in England and will participate in the invasion of Europe.

Fought In Africa

The United Nations victory in Africa that paved the way for the surrender of Italy was "due in no small part" to the spade-work of Indians, he related, while English troops that "broke the backbone" of Rommel's "truly great" Afrika Corps were composed of up to fifty per cent of Indians.

Indian troops, he declared, can take the credit for "ousting Mussolini from Ethiopia and restoring Haile Selassie to the throne," and for the battle of Madagascar which, he added, has made the Pacific war less difficult.

Indians ousted the Nazis from Iran, he said, adding that "ninety per cent of the troops that stopped the Japs forty miles from Calcutta" also were Indians.

Other than that, Krishnayya said, from 35,000 to 50,000 soldiers are being recruited every month for the Indian army. Seventy to eighty

SUIT FOR $4,000 IS FILED AGAINST SIMON KOCHMAN

Suit to obtain $4,000 allegedly due as payment of insurance premiums was filed in circuit court yesterday against Simon Kochman by Carl F. Schmutz, John I. Vandegrift and Walter M. Welch, trading as Schmutz, Vandegrift, Welch Insurance Company.

The plaintiffs, in their declaration, state that from January 3, 1930, to February 12, 1943, Kochman bought from them various policies of insurance coverage which he promised to pay total premium charges of $5,705.67.

The policies, the plaintiffs add, were kept in full force during the respective terms for which they were issued and demand was made upon Kochman for payment of total premiums. They declare that Kochman did not make full payment.

Lewis M. Wilson is attorney for the plaintiffs.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Sued As Result of Crossing Accident

to cross the tracks when no one appeared to give a signal of the approaching locomotive. Harris pointed out that the engine was eastbound and said that looking west at the crossing vision is obstructed because of an abutment.

When the car was struck, according to reports of the accident at the time it occurred, it was turned around several times. Doyle suffered a brain concussion and was admitted to Allegany hospital.

Suit by titling also was filed yesterday by Mary Jo Valentine, 246 Humboldt street, through her father and next friend, Royal S. Valentine, against Beal E. Milleson, 113 Oak street.

Hit By Car—Harris, who is also attorney for the Valentines, said this action stems from an accident November 6, 1943, when the 10-year-old girl was badly injured when she was struck by an automobile allegedly driven by the defendant. The amount of damages sought was not disclosed.

The girl, according to Harris, was crossing Park street at an intersection when she was struck and severely injured. She suffered a fractured skull and was admitted to Allegany hospital for treatment.

Kelly Shell Line Operations Will Resume Today

Union Membership Vote To End Strike and Return to Work

Regular operations on the Kelly shell production line at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be resumed at 3 o'clock this afternoon, ending a work stoppage that began at 4 a. m. Wednesday as the result of a dispute over seniority clause in the contract between the union and the company.

The decision to return to work was announced after a meeting of the membership and officers of Local 26, United Rubber Workers America (CIO), held last night at the union hall.

Roy E. Davy, president of the union, said the membership vote by a "big majority" to resume work this morning preparatory to ending full operations on the shift beginning at 3 p. m.

Company Announces Resumption

Company officials also announced after the union's decision had been reached that the company was "like to have all workers know regular operations will be resuming starting with the second shift."

The dispute that resulted in shutdown Wednesday was seniority rights as pertaining to alignment, and last night after meeting Davy said that negotiations will continue with the company until settlement is reached.

Two men will return to work at 7 o'clock this morning, Davy said, to light the furnaces and do preliminary work for resumption of regular operations at 3 o'clock, nine hours after the strike began.

Termed "Regrettable"

Davy again pointed out last night that the work stoppage was unauthorized and said "it was regrettable that it occurred in violation of the union's no-strike pledge."

Although some of the shell workers who took part in the stoppage are not members of the union, Davy said, they also will return to work today. They did attend the meeting last night.

Although work first stopped at a. m. Wednesday, employees on 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. shift reported work but later left their jobs as "sympathy" stoppage, company officials reported.
